Area Development Magazine Picks Huntington as Location to Watch 2011

Area Development Magazine has selected Huntington as one of two Indiana communities to watch in 2011. Locations were ranked according to attraction of business investments, job creation and positive economic outlooks.

A large factor in Huntington's ranking is the $9.1 million Continental Structural Plastics expansion, creating 350 jobs. In the coming year, the growth of Helena Chemical, a division of Tokyo-based Marubeni Corporation, will likely play a significant role in the growing success of Huntington County with their current $22 million project.

Huntington County Economic Development Executive Director Mark Wickersham is very optimistic about the future of Huntington County. "It's encouraging to see the hard work and dedication of Huntington County recognized. This is even more proof of the success a community can achieve when citizens, government officials and community leaders unite to promote a growing economy."
